Comments: On the most part lovely wines. Some division in picking dates with an early hot season, with some leaner greener wines for those trying to beat the heat, while others looked a bit sun kissed. The best wines were likely off some great vineyards that mitigated a difficult warmer season. A surprisingly fantastic class, given the challenges faced in the record-breaking hot and dry 2024 season. The lengths that producers and viticulturists went to to make this vintage a success is evident in the glass, and congratulations on that front is in order. If criticism is to be indulged, the wines en masse appear to be tightly wound and lean, almost to a fault. The best wines show smooth carriage of flavour, controlled phenolics and balanced acidity, but even in these standout examples, the tyranny of the season is on show, via the fleshy, nutty fruit characters and shallow depth of flavour. These wines will likely prove to be enormously rewarding in the short term, but perhaps not as long lived as those from the sensational 2023 vintage that came before it.

Class 04

2022 and older Chardonnay

Judges: Brendan Carr, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Cyndal Petty, Michael Webster

Comments: Best wines showed freshness in fruit profile and also fresh oak characters. Interesting to see how some reductive elements age with the fruit over time. . . the best wines were showing fruits hanging in with the phenolic profile.

Class 05

2025 Riesling

Judges: Erin Larkin, Steve Baraglia, Sean Ou, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: An overwhelmingly disappointing class. An abundance of wines in this class showed ferment issues, EA/VA, awkward acidity, and dilution of fruit/lack of flavour. One assumes that the vines were still feeling the impact of the prolonged dryness from 2024, and that this put them in a state of ill-health, or struggle. Similarly, the recurrence of unpleasant reduction characters was all-too frequent. The best wines had good flow across the palate, balance and length.

2024 Riesling

Judges: Brendan Carr, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Cyndal Petty, Michael Webster

Comments: Some diversity in perceived styles largely due to a warm, early season. Some wines looked over ripe and a touch forward while others looked a bit mean and lacked some fruit weight. It was felt this was largely due to difficult picking decisions.

Class 08

2025 and older Chenin Blanc

Judges: Erin Larkin, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: An excellent class, full of different styles, interpretations and iterations. Essentially, the best wines were not only delicious, complex and texturally engaging, they also showed strong varietal typicity. The majority of Chenin planted in Australia is here in Western Australia, and we are developing our own style of expression. It is such a forgiving variety in that it handles sweet/dry/sparkling/oaked/unoaked etc with ease, and yet these processes must be approached with care, lest they obliterate the very thing that makes Chenin, Chenin: the waxy phenolics and delicate floral/hay/straw profile. The best wines here today looked exactly like Chenin, and were excellent for it.

Class 11

2025 Blend of Sauvignon Blanc and Semillon

Judges: Brendan Carr, Andrew Bretherton, Sean Ou, Camille Bru, Larissa Dalli Cani

Comments: Very nice examples in this bracket. Best wines showed a balance of the typical tropical and herbal characters, ripe and resolved acidity / phenolics and well managed ferments.

2024 and older blend of Sauvignon Blanc and Semillon

Judges: Brendan Carr, Andrew Bretherton, Sean Ou, Camille Bru, Larissa Dalli Cani

Comments: A more challenging bracket, perhaps testament to a difficult V24 season with some warmer, peachier styles prevalent. A mixture of styles rewarded., some pure and fresh while others showed good oak / worked complexity woven through.

2025 and older blended white varieties (other than Class 11 & 12)

Judges: Brendan Carr, Sam Badger, Andrew Bretherton, Cyndal Petty, Michael Webster

Comments: Some nice wines, with textural and delicate fruits showing crafty blending to result in a whole that is greater than the sum of its parts. Some other wines looking a touch cloying and simple.

Judges: Brendan Carr, Sam Badger, Andrew Bretherton, Cyndal Petty, Michael Webster

Comments: Great examples of modern Western Australian ""alternate"" varieties that are now more on Broadway than off it. Vermentino, Fiano and Albarino are particularly exciting in this space! We think there is a great future for these trio around WA.

Sweet white wine, any variety or blend with at least 20g/L residual sugar

Judges: Erin Larkin, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: We really loved a wine in here, and we rewarded it as such. The challenge we faced in tasting many of these wines was there was a distinct lack of balance. We want to reiterate that that the sweet + style has merit and should be persisted with. Please don't be discouraged!

2025 and older Rosé

Judges: Kate Goodman, Erin Larkin, Steve Baraglia, Sean Ou, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Luke Campbell, Larissa Dalli Cani, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: A challenging class to find joy Beige is the colour of the class . Many wines lacking flavour and freshness . A little more effort to make flavoursome wine would be appreciated . On the upside use of sugar as a filler was in check A challenging class, as many of the wines lacked flavour and personality, both cut in favour of colour. A reminder that we drink flavour, and not colour. Purpose built roses can be a fantastic drink, and age worthy, too. Most will be consumed cold, in summer, with friends. They must bring joy. The best ones in this class did!

2023 Shiraz

Judges: Kate Goodman, Erin Larkin, Steve Baraglia, Sean Ou, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Luke Campbell, Larissa Dalli Cani, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: a great class showing the strength of shiraz in WA . Many styles offering diversity . Best wines have concentration and vibrancy with good flow and intensity
This was a class with high expectations. The best were excellent - balanced, fresh, good tannin support, oak not overdone, some classy bunch. The more challenging wines suffered from a number of issues: the tyranny of too much oak (especially in a cooler, mild season such as 2023) and overripe/late picking both impacted the wines. The right clones in the right sites and tended with thoughtful viticulture will always prevail regardless of the seasonal conditions.

Class 20

2022 and older Shiraz

Judges: Erin Larkin, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: A lot of wines here really showed more age than we would expect from the three, four or seven years in bottle. On the flip side, many looked sensational and settled. Oak once again plays a role in both supporting and detracting from the success of the wines. More is not more.

2023 Cabernet Sauvignon

Judges: Kate Goodman, Erin Larkin, Sam Badger, Andrew Bretherton, Steve Baraglia, Sean Ou, Luke Campbell, Larissa Dalli Cani, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: Best cabernets have varietal elements , core of fruit and tannin flow. Fragrance was present in many wines . As expected, this was a brilliant class. The exceptional conditions experienced in the 2023 season is more than evident in the glasses of this bracket of wines. There were a few wines let down by microbial faults, and the usual slew of dominant oak, however in almost all the wines the fruit condition was very good, and the tannins a masterful display of finesse and structure. CABERNET IS BACK.

Judges: Erin Larkin, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: Interesting class here - the impact of the hot dry 2024 season was evident in all of the wines, and it was clear that some vineyards coped with the conditions better than others. Having said that, many of the wines showed good fruit, LOADS of tannins, and were good drinks. Well done!

Judges: Erin Larkin, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: A very varied, and at times challenging class. Freshness is key to wines ageing gracefully, and some of these wines did not have that in their arsenal. The best wine was magnificent - a lovely example and ageing slowly - or not at all so far! Great discussion was generated here.

Comments: A diverse class with diverse results, and plenty of in-depth discussion amongst the judges. The best wines were unforced, varietal expressions and brought much joy. We didn't see any real faults here, aside from the usual tyranny of enthusiastic oak application.

2025 VI Packaging Wine Show of Western Australia

Class 31

2023 and older single red varieties other than classes 17, 19, 20, 22 - 26

Judges: Erin Larkin, Sam Badger, Matt Godfrey, Luke Campbell, Cyndal Petty

Comments: This was a great class to judge. We really enjoyed it, and the wines threw up lots of good discussion around style and quality. In the end, the show exists to judge quality, and the best wines here are superb examples of their variety. Well done.
There were some wines that lacked in freshness or displayed some overripe characters which detracted from both their varietal typicity and appeal. Otherwise - proceed - these are great endeavours.

Class 32

Sparkling white, red, or Rosé wine

Judges: Brendan Carr, Sam Badger, Andrew Bretherton, Cyndal Petty, Michael Webster

Comments: Some lovely wines in the mix. Best wines showed a good balance of delicate fruit, bottle age character, and a well-judged dosage leading to a textural yet finely detailed experience. Some overly fruity / reductive wines there that did not score as well.

Class 34

2017 and older dry white wine

Judges: Erin Larkin, Steve Baraglia, Sean Ou, Camille Bru, Irene Wong

Comments: An exciting, rewarding class. Old white wine is a beautiful thing, and widely under explored. The best wines here show freshness and focus despite their age, and will continue to express in this way for many years to come. Not all wine ages well, and just because a wine is old doesn't make it great. But today, we were treated to many great old wines. Bravo!

Class 35

2017 and older dry red wine

Judges: Brendan Carr, Matt Godfrey, Chris Murtha, Cyndal Petty, Michael Webster

Comments: A relatively difficult class to find joy in. Wines looking a forward with dusty, drying tannins more common. Tertiary characters are great, however fruit freshness should be the foil for this (even with wines within 10 years of release).
